West Virginia and the Tariff. Payne tariff bill was a New England licans. They allege, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, that Senator Bristow, of Kansas, said this, and that a matter of very much importance whether a publis speaker originated a falschood, or simply repeats it with approval, Mr. Davis can take the choice of these two situations. The facts are as the intelligencer has shown, that the Payne tariff bill is made for West Virginia as much as any other state in the Union. It is a bill in which the great West Virginia industries are amply and reaand these are the very articles that aspect; so much so that it is as yet foreign labor.
